How we use your information to provide you with healthcare

This practice keeps medical records confidential and complies with the General Data Protection Regulation.

We hold your medical records so that we can provide you with safe care and treatment. The practice strongly respects your confidentiality as a crucial part of the doctor patient relationship. We will limit transfer of information to medical facts and not include discussions of matters you may have said in confidence such as about relationships or family matters.

We will also use your information so that this practice can check and review the quality of the care we provide. This helps us to improve our services to you. For example, auditing hypertension or diabetic care. But at all times your confidentiality will be maintained. If we are summarizing data or showing results such as with our genetic work on our website or in a medical article no individual will be identifiable, so your anonymity is protected.

- We will share relevant information from your medical record with other health or social care staff or organisations when they provide you with care. For example, your GP will share essential medical information when they refer you to a specialist in a hospital. Or your GP will send details about your prescription to your chosen pharmacy.
- For more information on how we share your information with organisations who are directly involved in your care please contact the practice directly.
- Healthcare staff working in A&E and out of hours care will also have access to your information. For example, it is important that staff who are treating you in an emergency know if you have any allergic reactions. This will involve the use of your Summary Care Record. For more information see: <https://digital.nhs.uk/summary-care-records> or alternatively speak to your practice.
- You have the right to object to information being shared for your own care. Please speak to the practice if you wish to object. You also have the right to have any mistakes or errors corrected.

Other important information about how your information is used to provide you with healthcare

Audits and Identifying patients who might be at risk of certain diseases

- Your medical records may be searched by a computer programme so that we can identify patients who might be at high risk from certain diseases such as heart disease or unplanned admissions to hospital.
- This means we can offer patients additional care or support as early as possible and improve quality of care for conditions such as hypertension, diabetes and coronary disease e.t.c
- This process will involve linking information from your GP record with information from other health or social care services you have used.
- Information which identifies you will only be seen by this practice.
- More information can be provided by speaking with a member of the practice team.

Safeguarding

- Sometimes we need to share information so that other people, including healthcare staff, children or others with safeguarding needs, are protected from risk of harm.
- These circumstances are rare.
- We do not need your consent or agreement to do this.
- 90 Sloane Street has a safeguarding policy in place. This is displayed in our waiting room. If you would like more information, please speak with a member of the practice team

We are required by law to provide you with the following information about how we handle your information.
